

Reading the Supplemental Educational Services (SES) Provider List

The list, in table form, includes names of and information about all the companies and organizations that the state has approved to provide free tutoring to eligible students in the 2009-2010 school year.

	Provider	Session Information	Description of Services	Available to Serve
Cell #1 shows the provider's effectiveness in raising student achievement in reading/language arts and/or math based on an evaluation of the provider's services.	Contact information	Tutoring session information and the amount per hour the provider charges the school district for your child's tutoring.	Tutoring service information including the subjects, group size, and tutor qualifications.	The school districts that the provider will serve and tutoring site locations.
Cell #2 shows the results of surveys from parents, teachers, principals, school district SES coordinators, and SES providers.	Cell # 1 – Student Achievement Reading/Language Arts Insufficient data Math Below Standards	Cell # 2 – Customer Satisfaction Communication ★★★★★ Instructional Plan ★★★★★ Local & State Standards ★★★★★ Special Ed. and ELL Students ★★★★★ Assessment of Provider Overall ★★★★★	Cell # 3 The provider says this about its services:	Cell # 3 provides a statement that the provider makes about its services.

The three cells on the lower portion of the table give the results of an annual evaluation of providers' services in the 2008-2009 school year, conducted by the Center for Research in Education Policy (CREP), University of Memphis. The full report is available at http://tn.gov/education/fedprog/doc/SESTN07_08ReportFINAL_000.pdf.

Cell # 1 – STUDENT ACHIEVEMENT: Shows the provider's effectiveness in raising student achievement on the state tests in reading, language arts, and mathematics. Results may be listed as follows:

- Insufficient data: There was not enough information available that would indicate effectiveness. This could mean that the provider tutored small numbers of students or achievement test scores were not available for students.
- Above Standards: There is evidence that tutored students are making substantive achievement gains.
- Acceptable: There is evidence that tutored students are making achievement gains.
- Marginal Quality: There is some evidence that some tutored students are making achievement gains.
- Below Standards in Student Achievement: Students have not shown gains after tutoring. Results are statistically significant and favor non-SES students.

Cell # 2 – CUSTOMER SATISFACTION: Shows the results of survey responses from parents, teachers, principals, school system SES coordinators, and SES providers.

- Insufficient data: There was not enough information available. This could mean that a small number of parents, teachers, principals, SES coordinators, and providers responded to the survey.
- Communication: Survey respondents' perception of how well the provider communicated with parents, teachers, and principals about students' progress.
- Instructional Plan: Survey respondents' perception of how well the provider planned to meet each student's academic needs.
- Local and State Standards: Survey respondents' perception of how well the provider aligned its tutoring to the school district and state standards for student learning.
- Special Education and ELL Students: Survey respondents' perception of how well the provider served the needs of special education and English Language Learners (ELL).
- Assessment of provider overall: Survey respondents' overall satisfaction with the provider's services.

Cell # 3 – A statement that the provider makes about its services.

Student receives exercise based on personal prescription. Tutors respond to questions and work with students to review completed exercises. Group size is 3 to 5 students with individual tutor in order to balance time spent tutoring with time spent working on exercises independently. Exercises take 8 to 12 minutes. Students and tutors celebrate significant progress gains with “high fives” and certificates recognizing mastering key areas of work. Motivation and encouragement are key pieces of the program.”

Evaluation Results: The provider was approved in July 2010 and was not part of the most recent evaluation.	The provider says this about its services: "The teacher and student agree on the topic of instruction. The student agrees to attempt to answer questions from the teacher. The teacher and student are willing to accept any correctly-reasoned answer. That is, the reasoning process must be considered more important than pre-conceived facts or beliefs. The teacher's questions should expose errors in the students' reasoning or beliefs, then formulate questions that the students cannot answer except by a correct reasoning process. Where the teacher makes an error of logic or fact, it is acceptable for a student to draw attention to the error."
